Dear Sir:-

I am trying to answer your letter addressed to Mr. Wood in his absence on vacation.

I have added the identifications of your pieces so far as I have been able to make them. I think the first is one of the Blacksmith coppers which were described in the Numismatist several years ago.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

Please answer to Congress Hotel Chicago, Ill.

August 27th, 1923.

Mr. Harry L. Strauss,
Congress Hotel,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Strauss:

Your coin is a ten dollar gold piece, and is probably worth in the neighborhood of about fifteen dollars. It may be worth a little more if it has any of the original mint lustre.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
